TEACH AND TRANSFORM: TALKING ABOUT RACE, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION

MARCH 4, 2020 | 9:30AM-2PM
AT THE BLACK HISTORY MUSEUM OF VIRGINIA

The Virginia Holocaust Museum along with the Black History Museum of Virginia presents, Teach and Transform: Talking about Race, Equity, and Inclusion. This one day workshop will be facilitated by, award winning Teaching Tolerance educator Liz Kleinrock. In this workshop, participants will develop their ability to address race, equity, and inclusion in classroom and school communities. We will begin with setting agreements for holding these conversations, dig into personal identity and positionality, and learn best practices for creating lessons with students, and fostering inclusive learning spaces. This workshop is recommended for classroom educators and school leadership.

FACILITATOR:
LIZ KLEINROCK

Liz Kleinrock creates curricular content for K-12 students around issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and specializes in designing engaging and accessible units of study for all ages of learners. She began her career in education as an AmeriCorps volunteer teacher in Oakland, California in 2009, and has since served as both a classroom educator and diversity coordinator in Los Angeles, California. Liz also works with schools and districts throughout the United States to develop workshops and trainings for adults that support culturally responsive practices that fit the needs of specific communities. In 2018, Liz received the Teaching Tolerance Award for Excellence in Teaching, and her lessons on teaching consent and personal boundaries to students have gained international media attention. Liz has written articles for Heinemann Publishing and Teaching Tolerance on destigmatizing privilege, trauma informed teaching, and cultivating relationships with students and families. Most recently, Liz is proud to share her 2019 TED Talk from “Education Everywhere” on building foundations of equity with young learners, and is working on her first book.

The workshop is FREE, registration is required.

Space is limited to 30 teachers.
